

Effective 1 November 2025, the new Support at Home (SAH) program replaces Home Care Packages (HCPs) and the Short-Term Restorative Care (STRC) program with a simpler yet more robust contribution model.

The former four Home Care Package levels are now replaced by an extensive, eight-tiered level framework through Support at Home. This extensive program is intended as an effective aged care reform, providing greater access to quality in-home support with stronger service transparency.

Contributions: How Much Will I Pay?

It's important to note, the following key differences are dependent on your date of approval:

Before 12 September 2024:

If you were approved for a Home Care Package before this date, you won't start paying fees (if you don't already). If you do currently pay fees, these won't increase under the no worse off principle.

After 12 September 2024:

If you were approved for a Home Care Package after this date, you'll be assessed under the new SAH program to map your contribution and assigned care level in alignment with the new structure.
